

COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT POLICY

Materials Selection Policy

The purpose of The Materials Selection Policy is to list the general standards used to select materials in accordance with the Missoula Public Library mission statement.

Selection Policy Objectives:

- A written material selection policy serves as a guide to library personnel involved in materials selection. It assists them in selecting and acquiring a useful, well-rounded materials collection to meet the needs of the community served.
- A written selection policy helps the Library Board instruct new Board members about existing policy and assists the Board in determining whether the staff is doing an acceptable job of building a collection of materials that is relevant to current needs.
- A written selection policy will help to explain to library employees and other interested parties the basis on which materials have been selected.

Materials Selection Procedure

Ultimate responsibility for materials selection, as for all library activities, rests with the Director, who operates within the framework of policies determined by the Board of Trustees. The initial selection of material for the library as a whole, however, is the responsibility of the staff, as assigned by the Director. The professional staff maintains general guidance material selection for the entire library in their particular areas of service.

Selectors are given direct responsibility for selection in specific subject areas, under the supervision of the Director. All library employees are encouraged to make suggestions and requests for purchase of materials. Subject and title suggestions are also accepted from library users for consideration.

Criteria for Selection:

The selectors acquire materials using the following criteria (Note: not all criteria listed need apply to every item selected):

- Authoritativeness and literary merit;
- The importance of the subject matter to the collection and scarcity of material on the subject;
- Timeliness or permanence of the material;
- Appearance of the title in special bibliographies or indices;
- Clear presentation and readability;
- Accurate information;
- Availability of material in other local library collections;
- The author's reputation and significance as a writer;
- Reputation and standing of publisher;
- Format;
- Price, popularity and user demand

Selection aids may include:

- Book reviews in professionally recognized periodicals and journals as a primary source for selection (see Appendix F for representative titles of individual selection aids).
- Standard bibliographies and booklists by recognized authorities, such as library association and professional library journal publications.
- Advice of competent people in specific subject areas.

User purchase requests: All requests from users for specific titles or subject requests will be considered. Whenever there is enough demand or interest in an item or a subject, materials with unfavorable reviews may be purchased, unless it falls under the Supreme Court's definition of obscenity. Every reasonable effort consistent with the Missoula Public Library's Interlibrary Loan policies will be made to secure requested titles which are not in the collection from other libraries.

Duplication of Purchasing: Duplicate copies may be purchased to fill demand as finances allow. The purchase of less popular, but still important, materials will not be neglected.

Replacement of Materials: Whenever materials are lost, worn out, or otherwise withdrawn, replacement will be reviewed with the same general criteria as for original purchase. Replacement will depend on the need of the collection and whether other, similar, or more up-to-date materials are available.

Reference and Circulating Collection: The decision to designate materials for in-library use only is at the discretion of the selectors.

Gifts

The library will encourage and accept gifts suitable for its materials collection. Gift materials must meet the same criteria for selection as purchased materials. Any unneeded duplicates and out-of-date materials will not be added.

- Format must be suitable to library use. If the binding, condition of paper, or unusual format makes an item unsuitable for library use, it will not be added.
- Items not added to the library collection will be given to another library, to a non-profit organization, to the Friends of MPL for sale to benefit the library, or will otherwise be disposed of.
- Nameplates will be put in gift books at the donor's request.
- Whenever a gift is no longer needed in the collection, it will be disposed of in the same manner as purchased materials.
- Gifts that are cataloged and added to the collection will be shelved in their regular classified place on the library shelves and will be available to all borrowers in the Missoula Public Library system, and otherwise handled as any other material belonging to the Library.
- Individuals and organizations that donate magazine subscriptions shall do so according to the library's Magazine Subscription Donation Procedure (see Appendix G).
- All gifts not designated as part of the materials collection (for example, property, stocks, etc.) will be accepted by and disposed of at the discretion of the Library Board.
- Unrestricted monetary gifts of $1,000 or more will automatically go into the account of the MPL Foundation. Gifts under $1,000 will go into the account of the Friends of MPL. (approved December 27, 1994)

Collection Maintenance

The Board of Trustees of MPL recognizes that Missoula is a diverse community and affirms that the library will attempt to provide books and other library resources for the interest, information, and enlightenment of the entire community within the budget's constraints. See Appendix A for community demographics.

Limitations and priorities of the MPL

- Format - The library will purchase material in a format (hardback, paperback, DVD, digital, microform, map, picture, periodical, pamphlet, etc.) appropriate to its anticipated use, availability in alternate formats, cost, and storage space availability.
- The library does not attempt to acquire textbooks or other curriculum-related materials,xc except when such materials also serve the general public.
- Branches – Basic reference collections consisting of dictionaries, almanacs, an encyclopedia, etc., will be housed at branch sites. Gifts of materials and money to purchase materials may be accepted by branch staff, providing MPL Gift Policy is adhered to and materials are cataloged into the MPL collection.
- Series – The decision to purchase additional items in a series or to initially purchase a series will be based on the same selection criteria used to purchase single volume materials.

Special Collections: Certain collections (Genealogy, Large Type, Young Adult Comics, and Adult Graphic Literature) may be shelved separately to encourage use by the public.

Large type (primarily fiction) is updated as the budget allows and includes popular authors, as well as favorites.

Audiovisual materials are collected in DVD and digital formats to meet popular demand. As formats become obsolete they will no longer be supported.

- The goal of the DVD collection is to be well-balanced, serving the needs of the entire community. Materials are selected for all ages and all levels of comprehension. Selection is based on informational, educational, and recreational value and is also considered in terms of timeliness, demand, quality, and authority.
- The DVD collection contains feature films, TV series, and informational films for all ages. The collection may include current high interest films, old classics, award winners, foreign films, and non-fiction subjects.
- Feature films should contribute to the value of the Library's collection as a whole by representing all types and styles of motion pictures that - provide pleasant viewing for recreational and creative use of leisure time. Serious works, which present honest aspects of life, are not necessarily excluded for frankness of expression.

- Children's materials are selected in order to encourage the child's joy in learning and creativity. Visual recordings are selected to offer adventures of the mind and spirit for growing children, cultivate an appreciation of literature and film, and encourage the creative use of leisure time. Special attention is given to visual recordings of use and value to parents or other adults working with children.
 - Appropriateness, expected long-term use, and value to the collection are deciding factors in the selection.
 - Preference is given to the purchase of new titles rather than replacements, but titles in high demand may be replaced as available. Multiple copies may be considered for high-interest films and those items on the Partner holds report. (1 copy per five MPL holds)
 - Visual recording purchases will stem from reviews in the most highly regarded sources, although suggestions from users are always welcome and are given serious consideration. Close attention is paid to professional reviews, especially in the selection of documentary and "how-to" films.
 - Attempts will be made to purchase films at a reduced price. However, there are times when a film is so popular that the Library decides to purchase it immediately at full price.
 - The Library recognizes and understands that some visual recordings may be regarded by certain individuals or groups as controversial, whether because of bias, frankness of language, political expression, or moral implication. Selection will not be made on the basis of anticipated approval or disapproval by any individual in the community, but rather on the evaluation of the visual recording's critical merit, authenticity, honesty of presentation, topical interest, and use by the audience for whom it is intended. The primary aim of visual recording selection is to establish a balanced collection, which adequately represents various points of view on many subjects. (Visual Recording Policy Approved, August 2003)

Weeding

In order to maintain an up-to-date collection, staff will continually re-evaluate worn and obsolete materials. Systematic evaluation and weeding of the collection is required in order to keep the collection responsive to users' needs, to ensure its vitality and usefulness to the community, and to make room for newer materials. Weeding (removing materials from the collection) is the responsibility of the professional employees of the Library. Weeding both the purchased and donated material collection will be done continually in order to keep the materials collection relevant to the needs of the community.

Disposition Procedure

Material withdrawn during the weeding process will be given to the Friends of the Missoula Public Library for sale to benefit the Library or will be otherwise disposed of. (approved 8/7/90)

Censorship and Materials Selection

The Library Board and administration are dedicated to the principles of intellectual freedom. They believe that the right to read is basic to the intellectual freedom of democracy and therefore adopt the following three basic documents on intellectual freedom as official policy of the library:

- The Library Bill of Rights (See Appendix B for complete text)
- The Freedom to Read Statement (See Appendix C for complete text)
- The Freedom to View Statement (See Appendix D for complete text)

The function of material selection is to obtain the best print and non-print resources suited to the needs of the community with the funds available. It is not to be confused with censorship, and selectors must be constantly alert not to allow their own preferences or prejudices, pressure by individuals or groups, or fear of such pressure to influence selection. Following the democratic principles under which it operates, the library is obligated to make all sides of a controversial question available, as is possible.

The decision to purchase materials should be guided by qualified reviews and based on the literary value and social importance of the material, the needs of the community, availability of other materials on the subject, and funds available.

Materials which come within the Supreme Court's definition of obscenity should be excluded, but no item should be eliminated because of coarse language, violence, or frank discussion of sexual episodes when such episodes are pertinent to the plot or character delineation.

Indicating an item's point of view or bias by labeling it or shelving it in a special area is considered an unwarranted assumption on the part of the library. Cataloging and classification should in no way reflect a value judgment of the material.

The presence of material in the library does not indicate an endorsement of its contents by the Library Board, staff, or funding agencies.

Request for (Re)consideration Procedure

The Missoula Public Library staff will gladly respond to any concern from users about library materials. If users are not satisfied with the response received from a staff member, they will be referred to the Library Director. Within 48 hours, a user may request a written response if the verbal exchange has not been satisfactory. The Library Director, or the person acting in his or her absence, will respond in writing within seven working days. If those informal procedures do not result in a satisfactory conclusion for the user, a formal written request for (re)consideration may be filed.

Request for (re)consideration forms are available upon request.

This procedure will be followed:

- i User fills out and signs a "Request for (Re)consideration" (Appendix E) form and gives or sends it to the library staff.
- ii The copy or copies of the challenged materials will remain available to the public until disposition is determined.
- iii The "Request for (Re)consideration" form is sent to the Library Director with the material if it is a request for withdrawal or addition (if available).
- iv The Library Director will consult with the selector and respond in writing to the user.
- v If further action is required, a committee of professional level staff will review the materials and make a recommendation.
- vi The committee's decision may be appealed to the Library Board which will review the material and make a final decision.

Internet Access Policy

Missoula Public Library (MPL) strives to develop collections, resources, and services that meet the cultural, informational, educational, and recreational needs of our community. The internet, as an information resource, enables MPL to provide information beyond the confines of its own collection. It is within this context that MPL offers access to the internet.

MPL does not monitor and has no interest in controlling information accessed through the internet, and is not responsible for its content. Not all sources provide accurate, complete, or current information. MPL does not guarantee the accuracy of information obtained through the internet.

MPL does not censor access to materials or protect users from internet-based information. Materials and opinions come from varied points of view. The highly diverse population on the internet can result in information or services that may or may not please interest or offend. As with other library materials, restriction of a child's access to the internet is the responsibility of the parent or legal guardian.

Disruptive use of a public access computer may result in a request to relinquish the use of the computer for the day. If the disruption continues, user may lose computer privileges.
(Adopted 11/06 – 12/07 – 4/2020)

Missoula Public Library Social Media Staff Policy

Missoula Public Library (MPL) is committed to using current social media.

Social media is intended to augment and, in some cases, replace existing forms of communication with our users and partners. Staff is encouraged to look for opportunities to use social media as an effective and efficient communication tool. Any staff wishing to contribute to MPL social media sites may do so with the approval of his/her supervisor. A staff person that does so must be committed to maintaining current content and to promptly reviewing and responding to comments.

MPL Staff are encouraged to use social media for "conversations" with library users and partners. Staff recognizes that everything written or received on a social media site is public and that posts and comments made in online forums present frontline communications of MPL. The use of staff photos, videos, or comments should be done only with the verbal permission of the featured staff member. Only first names will be used unless the use of a full name is warranted.

The following disclaimer will be linked from all MPL social media MPL staff author or contribute to. "This [wiki/blog/post] does not represent official Missoula Public Library communications. Any links to external Internet sites do not constitute the Library's endorsement of the content of the sites or of their policies or products." Staff is expected to use professional judgment to decide whether or not to include this disclaimer in emails and/or in other posts including posts on social media sites.

Staff will remember that they are representing MPL and that content created is a reflection of MPL.

Staff will maintain copyright and fair use when posting content as well as following Creative Commons guidelines. (Creative Commons is a nonprofit organization working to increase the amount of content in "the commons"-the body of work that is available to the public for free and legal sharing, use, repurposing, and remixing.)

Staff will not share personally identifiable information and/or user information that is protected by library confidentiality. Additionally, staff will not share information that was collected with the assumption of confidentiality, proprietary information or information that is restricted by copyright, privacy, third party licenses or other restrictions without proper permission and/or attribution.

MPL-managed social media tools are intended to facilitate communication and comments, posts, and messages. MPL reserves the right to monitor content before it is published on all of its web-based sites and accounts, and to modify or remove any messages or postings that it deems, in its sole discretion, to be abusive, defamatory, in violation of copyright, trademark right or other intellectual property right of any third party, or otherwise inappropriate for the service.

Examples of content that will be removed by site authors or administrators include:

- Obscene or racist content;
- Personal attacks, insults, or threatening language;
- Potentially libelous statements;
- Copyrighted or plagiarized material;
- Private, personal information published without consent;
- Comments totally unrelated to the content of the forum;
- Hyperlinks to material that is not directly related to the discussion; or
- Commercial promotions, private business activities, or spam

Authors will reply to comments in a timely manner when a response is deemed appropriate based on the professional judgment of MPL staff. Certain comments that warrant official follow-up will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis and will be responded to by the Library Director or designee.

Photos and videos are important elements of web-based content. Staff is encouraged to share relevant photos and videos provided they are appropriate for an MPL social media venue. Staff wishing to share photos and videos via social media that include persons' faces, including those of other staff members, must first give the photographed individual the opportunity to opt out if the individual does not want his/her photo shared. MPL event attendees should be given the option to opt-out after an announcement is made to that effect at the event; opt out signs will also be posted at the event.

MPL staff who wish to create professional MPL social media accounts such as Facebook and Twitter are expected to obtain approval from their supervisors. Personal accounts do not require supervisor approval. Staff is encouraged to maintain separate personal and professional accounts. However, staff must be aware that, in the online environment, the lines between public and private are blurred. Staff should be conscious of how content shared through social media will be perceived by our users, partners, co-workers, and supervisors. Professional judgment must be used to determine whether or not content is appropriate for either setting.

MPL follows Montana State Library Law pertaining user confidentiality.

Missoula Public Library Social Media Users Policy

Missoula Public Library managed social media tools are intended to facilitate communication and disseminate information. MPL recognizes and respects differences in opinion. MPL regards online social media in the same way as its other information resources in accordance with its mission of serving the Missoula area's needs for learning, literacy, and community connections. As with more traditional resources, the library does not act in place of or in the absence of a parent. The library is not responsible for enforcing any restrictions which a parent or guardian may place on a minor's use of this resource. In addition to the general rules respecting use of the library, the Missoula Public Library prohibits use of its social media for any purpose which might create civil liability of the Library Board to any person.

- Use of MPL social media is conditional on the user's agreement to observe this policy.
- Comments, posts, and messages are welcome on MPL social media sites.
- MPL reserves the right to monitor content before it is published on its web-based sites and accounts, and to modify or remove any messages or postings that it deems, in its sole discretion, to be abusive, defamatory, in violation of copyright, trademark right or other intellectual property right of any third party. Examples of content that will be removed by site authors or administrators include:
 - Copyrighted or plagiarized material;
 - Private, personal information published without consent including photos and images;
 - Comments totally unrelated to the content of the forum;
 - Hyperlinks to material that is not directly related to the discussion;
 - or
 - Commercial promotions, private business activities, or spam

MPL also reserves the right to edit or modify any submissions in response to requests for feedback or other commentary. Notwithstanding the foregoing, MPL is not obligated to take any such actions, and will not be responsible or liable for content posted by any subscriber in any forum, message Board, or other area within the service.

By posting content, including comments to MPL social media sites, users acknowledge and agree to the following:

- By making a submission, users consent to its online display;
- User submissions to MPL social media may be republished through other formats such as the MPL newsletter or Website for promotional purposes
- MPL has the right to send e-mail regarding use of the social media.

Social media sites managed by MPL sometimes contain links to content on other Internet sites for which MPL is not responsible. MPL is not responsible for the reliability or accuracy of user generated content or of the content on sites to which MPL social media sites may link. Users access external web content at their own risk.

Users are encouraged to protect their privacy when participating in online public forums. MPL is committed to protecting user privacy (see appendix I) however, user privacy does not extend to public forums including social media forums where a user may choose to identify him or herself as a user of MPL. By posting content in a public forum, the user acknowledges that he or she may forfeit any expectation of user privacy.

A user may be required to create an account for individual platforms in order to post content to any of MPL's social media.

By posting content, the user agrees to indemnify MPL and its officers and employees from and against all liabilities, judgments, damages and costs (including attorney's fees) incurred by any of them which arise out of or are related to the posted content. Forums and messaging may not be used for commercial purposes or for organized political activity.

If any user does not agree to these terms, he or she should not use the service, as violation of the terms can lead to legal liability. (3-28-2012)

MPL Programming Policy

A library program is an event that promotes the use of library materials, facilities, or services and/or offers the community an educational, recreational, or cultural experience. Programs are planned for the interest and enlightenment of Missoula County citizens and surrounding communities.

- Missoula Public Library strives to offer a variety of programs for all ages that support the mission of the library and reflect the broad range of our community's interests. Programs may be planned and presented by library staff or by individuals or groups with the library acting as sponsor. Programs may be offered in library meeting rooms as space permits or at other locations designated by the library.
- Selection of library program topics, speakers, presentations, and resource materials will be made by library staff on the basis of the interests and needs of library users and the community. Library staff use the following criteria in making decisions about program topics, speakers, and accompanying resources:
 - Community needs and interests
 - Availability of program space
 - Treatment of content for intended audience
 - Presentation quality
 - Presenter background/qualifications in content area
 - Budget
 - Relevance to community interests and issues
 - Historical or educational significance
 - Connection to other community programs, exhibitions or events
 - Relation to library collections, resources, exhibits and programs

- Members of the public who want MPL to sponsor their program must submit a request to the Programming Committee a minimum of three months prior to the proposed program date; doing so does not guarantee library sponsorship. Organizations or individuals partnering with the library on programs must coordinate marketing efforts with the library's Public Relations Specialist.
- Library sponsorship of a program does not constitute an endorsement of the content of the program or the views expressed by participants. Program topics, speakers, and resources are not excluded from programs because of possible controversy.
- Programs will not be allowed to serve as a platform for generating income for any sponsoring group or individual, except funds to support the library. Library programs must be noncommercial in nature. Although a businessperson or other professional expert may present a program, no solicitation of business is permitted. The sale of products at an adult library program is not allowed. There are two exceptions:
 - i) Writers, performers, and artists may sell their own works at the library following library programs in which they are featured.
 - ii) The Friends of the Library may sell items at library programs they sponsor.

Attendance at library sponsored programs is always free and open to the public and shall not be restricted because of racial, religious, socioeconomic or political status, sexual orientation, or gender identity. To participate in library programs attendees are expected to adhere to our Patron Behavior policy (link).

Individuals who attend an MPL-sponsored event where photographs or videos are taken have the option to opt-out from appearing in these photos and/or videos. Individuals desiring to opt-out are required to inform MPL staff. For more detail please review our Photos/Videos policy (link).

Physical Facilities

Use of Missoula Public Library meeting rooms and study rooms supports the Library's mission to "provide free and equitable access to cultural, and educational experiences." Missoula Public Library is committed to racial equity and social justice, and we maintain a welcoming and inclusive public space. Meeting and study rooms are heavily used and the Policy aims to support equitable distribution of a shared community resource.

The Library Board of Trustees shall have the authority to deny a meeting if it is deemed inappropriate to the mission of Missoula Public Library. Upon adequate notice and for adequate reasons, the library reserves the right to revoke permission to use any meeting room. Meetings' content does not reflect the opinions of the Library Board or staff. The Library adheres to the principles of intellectual freedom, adopted by the American Library Association, as expressed in the Library Bill of Rights.

The Library retains the right to monitor all meetings, programs and events conducted on the premises to ensure compliance with Library regulations. Use of the meeting and study rooms should not interfere with the normal functions of the library. Library staff will have free access to rooms at all times.

All meeting rooms are equipped with AV Equipment, tables and chairs. Each room must be returned to the way it was upon the user's entry to the room. If this is not followed, users may lose the privilege to use the meeting room in the future.

PUBLIC MEETING ROOMS

Meeting rooms are intended for larger groups than the study rooms, and therefore have additional usage requirements; minimum attendance requirements may be imposed. Meeting rooms may be used at no charge for cultural, informational or governmental and civic activities. Preference is always given to Missoula Public Library and its Partners. Exceptions must be cleared through the Library Director.

Details about reservations and use of meeting rooms can be found at:

Public Meeting Room Regulations (see Appendix H)

The Library Director may authorize the denial of permission to use any MPL study rooms or meeting rooms or may terminate any meeting in progress by any group that is disorderly in any way or otherwise violates these regulations.

PUBLIC STUDY ROOMS

The primary purpose of the study rooms is to provide space for small groups and/or individuals to meet and work. Capacities vary by room. Details about reservations and use of study rooms can be found in:

FOOD AND DRINK IN MEETING ROOMS

Personal food and soft drink are permitted in meeting rooms and study rooms so long as the user cleans up any messes made and uses provided trash bins for garbage. The Library asks that lids be used on any drinks.

If a group or individual chooses to offer food or beverages at a meeting, Trapper Peak Coffee Shop, located on the first floor of Missoula Public Library, must be contacted for catering. If Trapper Peak cannot provide the service, another catering service may be used. Contact Trapper Peak at:

CULINARY DEMONSTRATION KITCHEN

The purpose of the Culinary Demonstration Kitchen is to advance literacy through food and cooking in a community where local-sourced foods are important. This space will elevate hands-on, project-based learning, while celebrating community.

The importance of food safety and proper handwashing techniques is the most important way to prevent the spread of germs. Participants touching food or drinks will be asked to use proper techniques for washing hands.

Food allergies are avoided whenever possible. Participants will be asked about food allergies before classes and those with life-threatening food allergies will be asked to bring an Epinephrine Auto-Injector in case they need it.

Classes are open to everyone. A wide range of topics will be offered using many techniques and equipment. Programs are always free. Occasionally, an author or presenter may have their items for sale; no participant is required to purchase the items.

Some presentations may require registration through Eventbrite.

The service animal shall be under the control of its handler by means of a harness, leash, or other tether, unless either the handler is unable because of the disability to use a harness, leash, or other tether or the use of a harness, leash, or other tether would interfere with the service animal's safe, effective performance of work or tasks, in which case the service animal must be otherwise under the handler's control (e.g., voice control, signals, or other effective means.) (added 02/11)

MPL is not responsible for the care or supervision of a service animal.

Unattended Child Policy

Missoula Public Library welcomes children to use its facilities and services. The responsibility for the care, safety, and behavior of children using the library rests with the parent, legal guardian, or designated caregiver. School age children may use the library unattended, subject to other rules and regulations of the library concerning behavior, conduct, and demeanor (see the Library's User Disruptive Behavior policy).

Should an unattended child exhibit disruptive behavior, library staff will attempt to contact the parent or legal guardian of the unattended child. In the event that the parent or legal guardian cannot be reached within 30 minutes, local law enforcement officials will be called. Two staff members will wait with the child until law enforcement officers arrive.

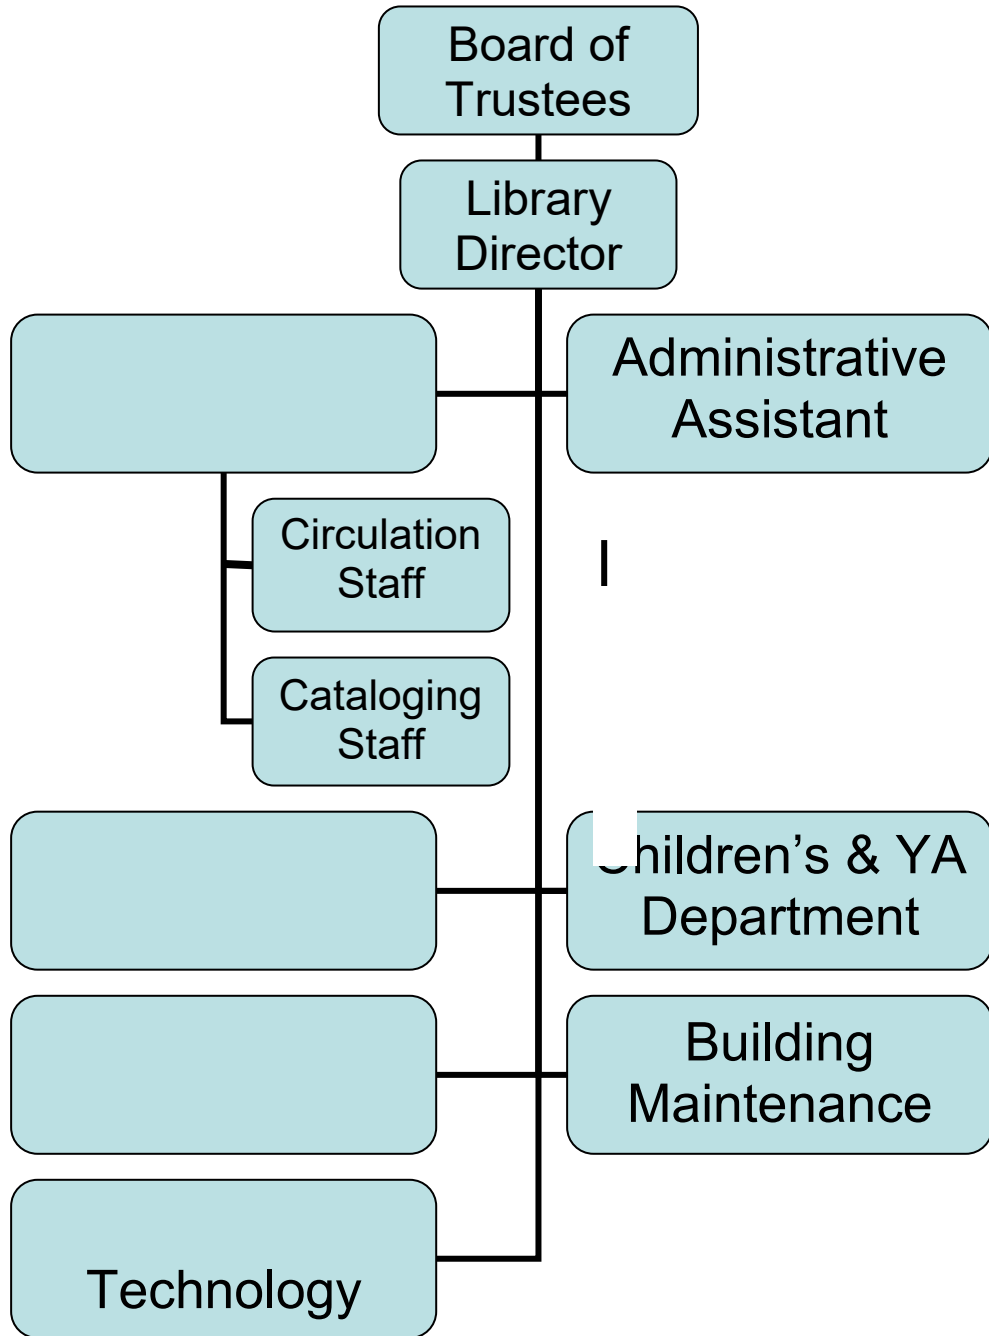

Teachers, daycare providers, or other youth leaders may not leave groups of unattended students in the library regardless of the age of the students. Parents or guardians of children of any age who have special needs must remain with their children at all times while they are in the library.

Parents should be aware of the library's hours and keep in mind that those hours may change due to holiday schedules, inclement weather, or other unforeseen emergencies. Parents must pick up children at least 5 minutes before the library's posted closing time.

Two staff members will remain with the child inside the library Main Street entrance until law enforcement officials arrive. A note will be placed on the Main Street door of the library notifying the parent, legal guardian, or designated caregiver that the child is in the care of local law enforcement officials.

Under no circumstances shall a Library staff member transport any user.

User Needs and Services/Programs Defined:

With 70,000 cardholders, Missoula Public Library is heavily used by people in the County and surrounding areas. The County is served by the Main Branch downtown Missoula, the mobile branch (WOW) servicing many areas with internet access and materials, and six remote branches scattered around the County. User-centered services enables users to experience increased confidentiality through the use of self-check machines. Staff is available to assist users in gaining confidence with the technology and collections available. Staff is available for individuals who need help with payment of lost materials and other issues. Self-pickup holds shelves are located in the Market Place so users can access help easily if needed. Holds are shelved by the last five digits of a user’s library card number to ensure confidentiality.

Library staff members are moving about the collection available to help the users at the point of need. Each department in the library has roving staff available to assist with questions and provide Reader's Advisory for those looking for the perfect read.

The Library supplies recreational reading for all ages, homework support and basic research for all ages by way of nonfiction resources, databases and reference services. Public internet computers are available for checkout on the main floor and third floor. Classes are offered weekly. A Business Center is available for users who need the ability to fax, scan, copy, and access specialty software.

The YA Department has three employees bringing a variety of programming and energy to the department. Their space is inviting and private for young adults. Public access computers are available in the YA area for those who are 14-19 years of age. A gaming station flanks the YA space. Both Board games and video games are available.

Senior citizens enjoy a constantly growing large type book collection as well as an increase in audio books through MTLibrary2Go and AXIS 360. Staff visits several senior residence homes once a month, providing a variety of materials for residents.

The library not only provides materials for university students, but also offers University of Montana children's literature students a class in using library collections – particularly the children's and young adult areas. University Library Media students are provided an opportunity to complete a practicum using the staff and resources of MPL. In addition to these specific opportunities, university students use the library's periodical collection, as well as the Montana materials to complete required projects. University users place holds on items from MPL.

Online resources, such as Magazine Databases, Auto Repair, other databases, Heritage Quest, Ancestry.com and Novelist are provided. The Montana Shared Catalog is available in the library and remotely. As a participant in the Montana Shared Catalog, MPL users can browse the collections of 150+ other libraries in Montana. Users can check out and hold materials from a group of libraries called Partners which now consists of over thirty libraries.

September 2003 began a remodel to enhance ADA access to users, starting with the Library's main floor entryway and new shelving with generous aisles for increased accessibility. In 2006-2007, resurfacing of the parking lot, relocation of handicap parking, new door handles, restroom redesigns, and new handrails on stairways brought the ADA access to near completion. The 2008 budget included the ADA upgrade for the elevators and complete the ADA deficiencies outlined in the Missoula County Federal ADA Compliance document.

Missoula is rapidly growing. In 2009, the Library Board of Trustee and the Foundation for MPL completed a feasibility study on the building at 301 E Main Street. It was determined that Missoula needed a new Main Library. The Library Trustees, Friends and Foundation partnered to build a new Library at 455 E Main Street. The new building will open in August of 2020 if Missoula County is in the 3rd Phase of COVID – 19.

In 2016 the Citizens of Missoula voted a $30,000,000.00 bond to construct a new library facility. A property exchange to obtain the 400 block of East Main was signed in May of 2017. The new Library is in the process of being constructed on the 400 block of East Main. ae Design the local firm partnered with MSR of Minneapolis, a national library architectural firm, and Dick Anderson Construction. Construction began in March of 2018 and lasted 18 months.

Partnerships with school districts provided MPL with the opportunity to create Branches in many locations. Recovery Act money was used to purchase the mobile branch of MPL, the WOW Mobile Branch, which brings services to outlying areas of Missoula County. Partnerships between schools and the library have been very successful in providing Branch services in the County.

Collection Development and Description

The Board of Trustees of the Missoula Public Library recognizes that Missoula is a diverse community and affirms that the Library will attempt to provide print, non-print, and other library resources for the interest, information, and enlightenment of the entire community, within the budget's constraints.

With over 450,000 volumes, the Missoula Public Library strives to supply materials in a variety of subject areas and formats. These include multiple copies of bestsellers, a vast collection of how-to books and video recordings, an ever-increasing collection of audio books, music CDs, a strong young adult fiction collection, as well as a variety of children's materials. MPL has a wide variety of graphic novels for children and young adults and an adult graphic literature collection, as well as downloadable audio and eBooks for user checkout.

Cooperative Collection Management & Interlibrary Loan: In 2004, a cooperative partnership was formed with other western Montana libraries allowing users the ability to easily borrow items from each library. This partnership is known as the "Partners" and has grown to include libraries from across the state. MPL relies on interlibrary loan for more obscure titles that may only appeal to one or two individuals or titles that are out of print.

In FY07-08 MPL participated in an OCLC Home Delivery Pilot Project and in January of 2010 MPL continued the service free of charge to those who qualify. This has proven to be a very popular project and funding will be covered by individual users and supplemented by the Friends of MPL to cover postage cost of low income handicapped users.

General Priorities and Limitations

Chronological Coverage: In general, MPL holds newer copyrights. The library keeps some older materials for both historical and research purposes. Older books of music/songs remain because they are usually the only titles available. Travel books are kept for historical accounts or "I was there" stories. Contemporary travel books are updated regularly. Some biographies are the only ones written about a person, or are considered the most authoritative biography, even when a newer biography has been written. Older books of plays, short stories, essays, fairy tales, and poetry are considered timeless. Newer materials on health-related issues are continually added to the collection. Computer books are weeded regularly and replaced, although the library still has some older computer books that deal with older programs and computers for users who have older systems. Montana materials are kept no matter how old. Scattered throughout the collection are certain works that have become classics (Rachael Carson's "Silent Spring", for example) that we will not remove unless the condition is poor.

The library's collection is in constant need of weeding. The primary goal in nonfiction is to keep materials as timely and up-to-date as possible. The adult fiction and nonfiction collection have been heavily weeded to make room for non-circulating titles from the reference collection. Many reference titles will be interfiled with non-fiction so users who browse the collection will find all materials on one subject in one area shelved together.

Material is collected in English, although the collection holds a significant number of foreign language recordings and materials designed to assist users in learning other languages. FY2008 marked the addition of many new Spanish titles in both fiction and non-fiction. In 2016, many refugees joined the Missoula Community and new languages will be added as needed.

Missoula Public Library is funded through county property taxes. In 2000 the library campaigned for and received a 5-year 3.5 mill levy increase. Much of that increase went toward improving the physical building, but funds were also used to increase personnel, expand the library's open hours, and nearly double the materials budget. In 2006, a permanent levy for $995,000 was voted on by the citizens and passed. At that point the 3.5 mills from 2000 were replaced with $995,000 per year mill levy. The library does receive donations, some of which are earmarked for special collections such as audio books. The Friends of the Library and Foundation Board also contribute to the materials budget from time to time, particularly if the library receives a bequest.

The Library has completed five successful "Big Reads" funded by the NEA and supported by local grants. The Big Read has become a bi-yearly program taking place in the fall and including many community partners. Public school libraries, private school libraries, the University of Montana Mansfield Library, and several local museums are valuable partners, as well as many local businesses and non-profits. Drummond School Community Library and North Lake County Library District also partner to bring the Big Read to their communities.

MPL's Makerspace has added a new dimension to programming. Technology programming expands with the use of Arduino and 3D scanning and printing, coupled with many soft skills, such as water color painting classes and many upcycling classes. In 2016, MPL was able to hire a full-time employee for the makerspace. Many volunteers spend their time teaching classes and monitoring the open in-house hours.

Appendix B: American Library Association Library Bill of Rights

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

- I. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.
- II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
- III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
- IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
- V. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
- VI. Libraries that make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

Adopted June 18, 1948.

Amended February 2, 1961, and January 23, 1980,

Inclusion of "age" reaffirmed January 23, 1996 by the ALA Council.

Appendix C: American Library Association: the Freedom to Read

The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is continuously under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove books from sale, to censor textbooks, to label "controversial" books, to distribute lists of "objectionable" books or authors, and to purge libraries. These actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals. We, as citizens devoted to the use of books and as librarians and publishers responsible for disseminating them, wish to assert the public interest in the preservation of the freedom to read.

We are deeply concerned about these attempts at suppression. Most such attempts rest on a denial of the fundamental premise of democracy: that the ordinary citizen, by exercising critical judgment, will accept the good and reject the bad. The censors, public and private, assume that they should determine what is good and what is bad for their fellow-citizens.

We trust Americans to recognize propaganda, and to reject it. We do not believe they need the help of censors to assist them in this task. We do not believe they are prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be "protected" against what others think may be bad for them. We believe they still favor free enterprise in ideas and expression.

We are aware, of course, that books are not alone in being subjected to efforts at suppression. We are aware that these efforts are related to a larger pattern of pressures being brought against education, the press, films, radio and television. The problem is not only one of actual censorship. The shadow of fear cast by these pressures leads, we suspect, to an even larger voluntary curtailment of expression by those who seek to avoid controversy.

Such pressure toward conformity is perhaps natural to a time of uneasy change and pervading fear. Especially when so many of our apprehensions are directed against an ideology, the expression of a dissident idea becomes a thing feared in itself, and we tend to move against it as against a hostile deed, with suppression.

And yet suppression is never more dangerous than in such a time of social tension. Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. Freedom keeps open the path of novel and creative solutions, and enables change to come by choice. Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it the less able to deal with stress.

Now as always in our history, books are among our greatest instruments of freedom. They are almost the only means for making generally available ideas or manners of expression that can initially command only a small audience. They are the natural medium for the new idea and the untried voice from which come the original contributions to social growth. They are essential to the extended discussion which serious thought requires, and to the accumulation of knowledge and ideas into organized collections.

We believe that free communication is essential to the preservation of a free society and a creative culture. We believe that these pressures towards conformity present the danger of limiting the range and variety of inquiry and expression on which our democracy and our culture depend. We believe that every American community must jealously guard the freedom to publish and to circulate, in order to preserve its own freedom to read. We believe that publishers and librarians have a profound responsibility to give validity to that freedom to read by making it possible for the readers to choose freely from a variety of offerings.

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free people will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

We therefore affirm these propositions:

1. It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those, which are unorthodox or unpopular with the majority. Creative thought is by definition new, and what is new is different. The bearer of every new thought is a rebel until that idea is refined and tested. Totalitarian systems attempt to maintain themselves in power by the ruthless suppression of any concept, which challenges the established orthodoxy. The power of a democratic system to adapt to change is vastly strengthened by the freedom of its citizens to choose widely from among conflicting opinions offered freely to them. To stifle every nonconformist idea at birth would mark the end of the democratic process. Furthermore, only through the constant activity of weighing and selecting can the democratic mind attain the strength demanded by times like these. We need to know not only what we believe but why we believe it.
2. Publishers, librarians and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation contained in the books they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what books should be published or circulated. Publishers and librarians serve the educational process by helping to make available knowledge and ideas required for the growth of the mind and the increase of learning. The people should have the freedom to read and consider a broader range of ideas than those that may be held by any single librarian or publisher or government or church. It is wrong that what one can read should be confined to what another thinks proper.

3. It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to determine the acceptability of a book on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.

A book should be judged as a book. No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free people can flourish which draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say.

4. There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression.

To some, much of modern literature is shocking. But is not much of life itself shocking? We cut off literature at the source if we prevent writers from dealing with the stuff of life. Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared. In these matters taste differs, and taste cannot be legislated; nor can machinery be devised which will suit the demands of one group without limiting the freedom of others.

5. It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept with any book the prejudgment of a label characterizing the book or author as subversive or dangerous.

The ideal of labeling presupposes the existence of individuals or groups with wisdom to determine by authority what is good or bad for the citizen. It presupposes that individuals must be directed in making up their minds about the ideas they examine. But Americans do not need others to do their thinking for them.

6. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large.

It is inevitable in the give and take of the democratic process that the political, the moral, or the aesthetic concepts of an individual or group will occasionally collide with those of another individual or group. In a free society individuals are free to determine for themselves what they wish to read, and each group is free to determine what it will recommend to its freely associated members. But no group has the right to take the law into its own hands, and to impose its own concept of politics or morality upon other members of a democratic society. Freedom is no freedom if it is accorded only to the accepted and the inoffensive.

7. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a bad book is a good one, the answer to a bad idea is a good one.

The freedom to read is of little consequence when expended on the trivial; it is frustrated when the reader cannot obtain matter fit for that reader's purpose. What is needed is not only the absence of restraint, but the positive provision of opportunity for the people to read the best that has been thought and said. Books are the major channel by which the intellectual inheritance is handed down, and the principal means of its testing and growth. The defense of their freedom and integrity, and the enlargement of their service to society, requires of all publishers and librarians the utmost of their faculties, and deserves of all citizens the fullest of their support.

We state these propositions neither lightly nor as easy generalizations. We here stake out a lofty claim for the value of books. We do so because we believe that they are good, possessed of enormous variety and usefulness, worthy of cherishing and keeping free. We realize that the application of these propositions may mean the dissemination of ideas and manners of expression that are repugnant to many persons. We do not state these propositions in the comfortable belief that what people read is unimportant. We believe rather that what people read is deeply important; that ideas can be dangerous; but that the suppression of ideas is fatal to a democratic society. Freedom itself is a dangerous way of life, but it is ours.

This statement was originally issued in May of 1953 by the Westchester Conference of the American Library Association and the American Book Publishers Council, which in 1970 consolidated with the American Educational Publishers Institute to become the Association of American Publishers. Adopted June 25, 1953; revised January 28, 1972, January 16, 1991, by the ALA Council and the AAP Freedom to Read Committee.

Appendix D: American Library Association Freedom to View Statement

The FREEDOM TO VIEW, along with the freedom to speak, to hear, and to read, is protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In a free society, there is no place for censorship of any medium of expression. Therefore these principles are affirmed:

- To provide the broadest access to film, video, and other audiovisual materials because they are a means for the communication of ideas. Liberty of circulation is essential to insure the constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression.
- To protect the confidentiality of all individuals and institutions using film, video, and other audiovisual materials.
- To provide film, video, and other audiovisual materials which represent a diversity of views and expression. Selection of a work does not constitute or imply agreement with or approval of the content.
- To provide a diversity of viewpoints without the constraint of labeling or prejudging film, video, or other audiovisual materials on the basis of the moral, religious, or political beliefs of the producer or filmmaker or on the basis of controversial content.
- To contest vigorously, by all lawful means, every encroachment upon the public's freedom to view.
