This has 14 different address for obtaining records. (The form is reproduced in this Newsletter, but you may want to write for a copy from the National Personnel Records Center #14.)

BITS AND BYTES

E-Mail Form 80 - To order a copy of Form 80 (necessary to obtain military and pension records for pre WWI service, you can now send an e-mail message to:
Inquire@arch2.nara.gov

In the body of the message put:
send NATF form 80 <your name and snail-mail address>

Note: Form 80 is not good for ordering copies of military records from WWI onward. For these records use Form 180 (see enclosed copy.)

PRINT YOUR OWN RESEARCH CARDS

Do you travel to do research or write a lot of letters? How about designing your own business type card on the computer. These can be left in libraries, given to people you meet in your travels, or slipped into a letter. Include your name, address, phone number and e-mail address if you have one. Add a list of surnames that you are researching and maybe even a little graphic. Most word processing programs include a label generating facility (there are several label maker programs.) The business cards can be printed on pre-perforated business card stock which is now available at office supply stores in white, gray, or cream colors for $11-$12 for 25 sheets of 10 cards each, or you could print them on regular card stock if you have access to a good paper cutter.

UPDATED TIPS FOR LIBRARY USE

(1) Remember what you learned in gradeschool about library behavior: keep your voice down, handle materials carefully and never mark them, reshelve your books or otherwise return them as directed by the library, ...

(2) When you first enter a new library, take the time to walk the collection and assess the available resources. Look for unique resources like, perhaps, a vertical file of local family histories.

WMGS NEWSLETTER

(3) Once you think you have a grasp of the library's collection, it's always a good idea to check with the genealogy or reference librarian to verify you haven't missed any unique resources. (The librarians often also know about other local information sources such as historical societies, professional genealogists, ...)

(4) As you begin work, be aware that first and foremost libraries are intended to be self-service. Librarians are there to help you learn how to use the library effectively — they are not there to do your research for you.

(5) Be very patient with librarians. Because of the recent retrenchment in the public sector, virtually all librarians are both overworked and underpaid. The same librarian who is helping you is also probably helping several other people, handling telephone calls, and trying to get their administrative chores done.

(6) Beyond being very patient with librarians, be extremely patient with them. Inevitably, the last genealogists they met were rude and you have to overcome the sins committed by your predecessors.

(7) When you work with a librarian, be sure to note their name. It never hurts to write the director of a library and thank them when a member of their staff has been particularly helpful. Also, if you have a question after you leave a library, it's always best to direct it to a specific person.

(8) If you can afford it, when you visit libraries while traveling it is always a good idea to leave a contribution. A $5-20 gift, while it may not be much in comparison to a library's budget, does seem to be greatly appreciated. Similarly, when writing a library, including a gift to the library is always a good idea.

A WASTE OF TIME TO RE-DO RESEARCH?

Much as we were always urged to do it right the first time, there are time when you should go back and take a fresh look at material that you have looked at in the past. Did you take down all of the people with a certain surname in the census or land records? Did you look through the whole county or township when you were looking at those census records? If your answer is NO to either question you could have something to gain by looking at those records again.

1. Information needed to locate records. Certain identifying information is necessary to determine the location of an individual's record of military service. Please give careful consideration to and answer each item on this form. If you do not have and cannot obtain the information for an item, show "NA" meaning the information is "not available." Include as much of the requested information as you can. This will help us to give you the best possible service.

2. Charges for service. A nominal fee is charged for certain types of service. In most instances service fee cannot be determined in advance. If your request involves a service fee you will be notified as soon as that determination is made.

3. Restrictions on release of information. Information from records of military personnel is released subject to restrictions imposed by the military departments consistent with the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act of 1966 (as amended in 1974) and the Privacy Act of 1974. A service person has access to almost any information contained in his own record. The next of kin, if the veteran is deceased, and Federal officers for official purposes, are authorized to receive information from a military service or medical record only as specified in the above cited Acts. Other requesters must have the release authorization. In Item 5 of the form, signed by the veteran or, if deceased, by the next of kin.

Employers and others needing proof of military service are expected to accept the information shown on documents issued by the Armed Forces at the time a service person is separated.

4. Location of military personnel records. The various categories of military personal records are described in the chart below. For each category there is a clock number which indicates the address at the bottom of the page to which this request should be sent. For each military service there is a note explaining approximately how long the records are held by the military service before they are transferred to the National Personnel Records Center, St. Louis. Please read these notes carefully and make sure you send your inquiry to the right address. Please note especially that the record is not sent to the National Personnel Records Center, St. Louis, as long as the person retains any sort of service obligation, whether drilling or non-drilling.

- NPRC-National Personnel Records Center.
- PER-Personnel Records

Why should a person belong to a genealogy society, and why should a local genealogy society belong to the state society? Years ago when I first started to research my family history, I discovered that there was a local genealogy society. I joined because I hoped that there would be some people there that would know more than I, and I could learn from them. It's the age old adage of "Find someone who knows more than you and pick his brain." My hopes were realized. As a beginner I found wonderful instruction, information concerning where I could get more instruction, workshops with lots of help and more. Looking back on it, I would honestly have to say that my being active in the local society is what really gave me the boost to propel me forward in my abilities to research my family. In my local society I also found the opportunity for service. Records needed to be preserved and indexed. I was so grateful to people around the country who had indexed records in the places where I was searching that I really felt good about being able to return that favor by indexing our records for other's use. As I have gone from beginner to novice, I have enjoyed being able to turn around and help other beginners.

Many hands make light work whether it's preserving and indexing records or enabling the growing number of interested people to do family history research. Some local societies have folded and others are nearing that because they cannot get people to take offices and participate in projects. What a tragic loss! One doesn't need to be an expert genealogist to be a good officer or spend a little time indexing. Don't be afraid. Step right in there and participate fully, and you will reap the benefits just as I did. Some time ago a member of our local society, whom I will call Jane Doe, quit because she said it had nothing to offer her anymore. I truly liked Jane, but I thought her attitude was very unfortunate. She would donate money for different things, but never did she hold an office or put forth any effort to help the society or any of its members as she had been helped. She got hers and then pulled out. We all need to share in the work.

Some jobs are too big for local societies to handle all by themselves. State records need to be and are being preserved and indexed. There is a tremendous need for constant watchfulness and strong lobbying of the state legislature and health department so that needed information will be accessible to us. All of us as individuals and local societies benefit from these and other efforts such as the special interest groups and statewide indexing of local histories. We benefit just by associating with people throughout the state—talking to those who are researching the same area or can offer some help. Many hands make light work. Share the load. Don't be like Jane Doe. Beginner, novice, or expert, —local society or individual,—you can reap great rewards. It's up to you.
